NEWS RELEASE

DPMS Unveils the “Hunter Series”
The Rifles Hunters Have Asked For Are Here!

Hunters of all types will appreciate the new DPMS “Hunter Series,” a new line of rifles designed for whatever game and conditions you may encounter out there! Chambered in .308 Winchester, .260 Remington or .243 Winchester, the rifles feature a 416 stainless steel 18” lite contour barrel, a matte black DPMS Slim Line Compensator and the reliability and accuracy of a DPMS rifle hunters need and expect. The lightweight aluminum A3-style flattop upper receiver (an innovative design process alleviates excess weight from the upper receiver while still maintaining integrity and durability) and Picatinny rail for easy scope mounting all feature the hard coat anodizing and black Teflon coating customary on all DPMS rifles. A carbon fiber free-float tube, factory installed sling swivel and phosphated steel bolt carrier complete the upper assembly.

Built on the tack-driving LR-308 platform, the lower assembly features a hard coat anodized and black Teflon coated, milled 6061-T6 aluminum lower receiver. Each lower receiver in the “Hunter Series” comes standard with a two-stage trigger, integral trigger guard and an aluminum magazine release button. A lightweight, fixed, skeletonized A2 stock and a Hogue Rubber Pistol Grip with finger grooves completes these new rifles from DPMS. Every “Hunter Series” rifle comes standard with two (2) steel magazines, a cleaning kit and hard case for storage. The rifles weigh 7.9 lbs when empty and have an OAL of 39 1/8”, making them not only reliable and extremely accurate, but comfortable to carry as well.

Available now, the DPMS “Hunter Series” (RFLR-308L, RFLR-260L & RFLR-243L) will retail for $1,499.00. (Optics are not included with these rifles.)
